

Tune Up Procedures

The assigned frequencies, transmitter power settings, and other configuration parameters for the Horizontal Directional Drill Tracking System are loaded into the microprocessor memory by the factory prior to the system integration step. There are no factory or user adjustable components in the system, so no tuning is required. All operation is controlled by the microprocessor firmware.

The factory will set the power so that each channel is between 18 and 20 dBm.