1. Remove the cups
2. Remove the 4 screws
3. Pull the top cover off
4. Remove batter case lid
5. Install the 3 C-cell batteries paying attention or the orientation
6. Install the battery case lid
7. Install top cover
8. Install the 4 screws to secure top cover
9. Install the cup housings

The unit will boot up as soon as all 3 batteries are connected and will enter sleep mode after beeping 2 times.

For FCC testing there are not other connections needed, as the unit will run normally without water connected to it, and now cleaner/sanitizer is required for it to run through a “dry” wash cycle.
