To Whom It May Concern:

We, Vecos Europe B.V., declare that the Vecos W1HUB with FCC ID: 2ACYAW1HUB must be installed and configured by professional engineers before it can be used and it cannot be sold directly to general consumers.

Vecos Europe B.V. addresses following items to justify professional installation:

1. Vecos Europe B.V. declares that the Vecos W1 HUB is only delivered to business customers and trained dealers and will be installed by authorized, selected and trained installers and thus not readily available to averaged consumers.
2. Vecos W1 HUB will not be sold via retail to the general public or by mail order; it must be sold to authorize dealers, installers and business customers only.
3. It is requested that filing must show that intended use is not for consumers and general public; rather the Vecos W1 HUB device is generally for industrial/commercial use.
4. The Vecos W1 HUB is part of the Vecos Wireless Lock system named "Vecos W1" which product is an electronic control system for (un)locking cabinets in locker rooms.
These locker rooms can only be found in office spaces, commercial environments, industrial areas etc. and therefor are unique, complex and specialized about the equipment and thus it requires to be installed by a professional installer.

Other profession installation requirements:

1. Installation is controlled.
2. Installed by licensed professionals (e.g., device sold to dealer who hire installers)
