

Remote control receiving circuit functional description

When the receiver receives the high frequency signal, through the high frequency demodulation circuit, demodulation coded signal, coded signal IC with an inner plastic, decoding, restore the function of received signal, through IC internal driving motor power drive circuit, so as to realize control function.