External photo of the host

The module itself is fully enclosed in the host and installed only by the Grantee. The host is installed in a location not accessible to the public.

The module does not have an 'external photo' as such, because it does not have an enclosure or any feature visible.