

A close-up photograph of a black cable with a gold-colored connector, resting on a green textured surface. The connector is a circular, multi-pin type, possibly a D-subminiature or similar industrial connector. The cable is black and appears to be made of a flexible material. The background is a green surface with a fine, pebbled texture.

