To Whom It May Concern,

Anagram International Inc. has developed a novel balloon that implements an embedded microcontroller and speaker to play sounds and music. Every balloon implements the same PCB, but each balloon will have different graphics and play different sounds.

Due to the balloon graphics covering the entire space of the balloon, there is not adequate area to add an individual label.

As per FCC guidance, in place of an individual label Anagram has created custom packaging insert that provides the specific FCC ID and related regulatory warnings that is readily identifiable to any purchaser of this product.

Thank you,
