

Application Scenario

IRISIAN VERSA N is suitable for the following scenarios with its small size, accurate image acquisition and powerful non-contact recognition function.

Gate or self-service channel

It can collect iris and face images and non-contact temperature measurement quickly and highly automatically, so it is very suitable for gate or self-service inspection channel in boarding gate, check-in gate, border inspection station and other scenes.

Desktop registration and verification

Support all kinds of identity authentication in government affairs, such as employment report, household registration, traffic control confirmation, medical appraisal, etc. Provide convenient and comfortable iris / face recognition experience, non-contact temperature measurement, even on masks and glasses can be recognized through. In addition, the device can also provide customized services to integrate the SDK into desktop applications to meet the different needs of customers.

Wall access control and attendance

Because it can automatically pitch and track the face, the device has a wide range of response to the height of the user's tongue. Consistent high-quality iris and face image acquisition, suitable for high-end access control and attendance. In addition, it is also widely used in prison / military personnel and goods management, such as roll call and sign in, visitor management, bullet and classified goods storage.