

A black metal frame machine, likely for a laser cutter or engraver, is shown on a blue surface. The machine has a rectangular frame with a central assembly unit. To the right of the machine are various accessories: a pair of safety glasses, a small black box, a wooden block, a metal rod, a metal plate, a power supply unit, and several cables. A yellow ruler is placed horizontally below the machine and accessories for scale.

