

Appendix B. Measurement equipment

Radiated test	AC Conducted test
 A photograph of a radiated test chamber. The walls are covered in white rectangular absorber panels. A black computer system with a monitor is on a table in the center. A yellow line on the floor indicates the test area. The KESK logo is visible on the wall.	 A photograph of an AC conducted test setup. A black computer system with a monitor is on a wooden table. The background is a grey metal wall.
 A photograph of the same radiated test chamber from a different angle, showing the black computer system and monitor on a table.	 A photograph of the AC conducted test setup, showing the black computer system and monitor on the wooden table.