To whom it may concern,

This letter is to request long-term confidentiality for internal photos, for the FCC Filing for FCC ID 2BE3T-WP01 under FRN 0034956334.

The internal photos of the device contain a clear view of internal components and the main printed circuit boards. Users are not permitted to access the inside of the unit and are not intended to. We ask that this information be made confidential to protect the investment made by StrongBo Agritech Canada Ltd ("the company") in developing the proprietary technology used for the circuit boards.

The company intends to keep these documents internally and will not be disclosing them at any time to any external organizations. Records are kept on a secure server where access permissions are controlled and limited to the company and the certification body which are our acting agents. If the need were to arise to share these documents externally outside of certification purposes, a copy of the documents would be shared under NDA which forbids their sharing or reproduction. There are currently no externally acceptable documents which contain these photos.

There are no external designated technicians currently. Access to internal systems is forbidden by regular customers. Access to the device requires a user to disassemble the product.

Any authorized persons to view the internal workings of the device will be subject to NDA.

The NDA will contain the following key terms.

5. Any employees within an organization that this agreement is signed with are also bound to the agreement if they are exposed to Confidential Information
