

Phare C1 FCC ID Markings

I. FCC Markings displayed only, excludes the other markings on the device

Marking and labelling details

All the details as seen in the image are screenprinted in the back of the device, on the ceiling plate side using the same technique as the logo in the front of the device, already present in the testing samples.

The front side can be used to test that markings are permanent, since the ones in the back are pending confirmation before being manufactured.

Enough margin has been left around the edge for the foam in the plate to not touch the markings and avoid any erosion over time.

These markings are permanent and can't be removed.

I. All markings displayed, non-FCC related markings may vary on production, only for reference.