Gentlemen:

This letter is a declaration of Honeywell International's professional installation of this unit on customer aircrafts. Since the antennas of this product are not supplied with the equipment and this equipment is installed on commercial aircraft, this equipment is required to be certified under professional installation. We declare that:

1. For the method of marketing, the WLU will be exclusively sold to commercial airline companies (no individual sales).
2. The installation of the equipment is controlled by professionally trained and certified airplane installation personnel. The general public will not have access to the areas of installation where this device is installed.
3. The application end environment for the WLU is exclusively onboard commercial aircraft.

Sincerely,

Keith Peavler
Manager Technical
