Hi Helen,

Thanks for your email.

This phone will only be sold overseas, it will never be offered for sale in the US. In the past we inquired and received confirmation from the FCC that the DoC for Part 15B is not necessary for this device if it is not marketed in the US.

Best regards,

Steve Petruska

Question #1: The Operation manual indicates the device has a USB port that can be used for data transmission with a PC. In this case, the digital portion of this device is classified as a PC peripheral, so it should be authorized through either DoC or Certification. If it is through DoC, then please add FCC DoC logo on the FCC ID label; If it is through certification, a new filing under equipment class of "JBP" is required. Please submit FCC15B report and test setup photos. So you will receive three FCC grants for this composite device: DSS (bluetooth) + PCE (GSM/GRPS) + JBP(PC peripheral).

Best Regards,

Helen Zhao
