This cellular phone is available for sale in Japan only.

Sharp Corporation, at the request of its customer, has arranged the User Manual as follows:

In-box printed user manual

This document is mainly in Japanese, but points users (in English on page ii) to the world wide web for those that require an English instruction manual.

To ensure that all users receive the required FCC statements etc., these are provided in English in the in-box user manual. These statements can be found under the safety section on pages 74 and 75.

Online user manual

As this cellular phone is available for sale in Japan only, English instructions are available on the world wide web only. These instructions refer back to the in-box printed user manual for Safety Precautions on page ii. The FCC statements can be found under the safety section on pages 74 and 75 of the in-box printed user manual.

Yours sincerely,
