The International Channel and US Channel frequency list on page 35 of the Operators manual C4901 (Operating Instructions, Exhibit B, of the original application) is not correct. Kindly replace the list with the attached amended International- and US frequency list.

In addition we have enclosed a conformance statement from the manufacturer. Please advise your fax number so that we may fax you a signed copy of the statement, if necessary.

The production equipment will be programmed in accordance with these lists and the operators manuals supplied with the equipment will include the new lists.

We trust this information meets with your requirements.

Best regards,

André Kik
