Microwave Radio Communications Inc. would like to invoke our right of confidentiality pursuant to CFR 47 Part 2 of the FCC rules. We feel that R&D efforts toward the development of the STRATA transmitter have led to unique system design. These design efforts, if released, would give unfair advantage to our market competition. The exhibit designated as Schematics and BOM (Bill of Material) along with the block diagrams and tune – up procedure should remain confidential.

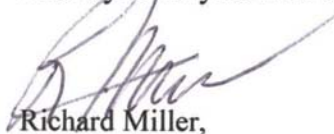

For reference, these items are listed below with section and section page number for ease of identification.
