

Operational Description

This product is the base set of the wireless earphone. It is a transceiver and using the rechargeable battery. The voice signal of cellular phone is conducted transmitted into the base set via wire, and the microphone installed in the base set can send the voice to the cellular phone via air.