Questions and responses follow:

1. Both the Operational Description and the Table of Contents of the EMC Test Report list EDGE operation; however, there is no test data to confirm the presence of this capability. Please clarify.

Response: The unit submitted is not capable of the EDGE operation. The Operational Description was written to incorporate both an EDGE and GPRS model, please disregard any mention of EDGE in that document. The EMC report has been edited to remove the EDGE references. Please refer to the supplemental EMC report submitted on September 8, 2005.

2. The probe conversion factors listed in the tables on pages 5 and 9 of the SAR Report do not match the values listed in the probe cal report or the SAR plot pages. Please address.

Response: Please refer to the supplemental SAR report submitted on September 8, 2005.
