

TCB Q and A

Hi, Daphne,

Please address following issues.

Q#1:According to the block diagram, the micro USB is two way operation which may include data communication. If it is, then it should be considered as PC peripheral that FCC DOC or certification rule.

Please address it as well.

ANS:After checked with client , even the micro USB is two way operation,but it is only operated for the charge mode and without the data communication. So the PC peripheral that FCC DOC or certification is not considered.
