

NON-TECHNICAL DESCRIPTION

The wireless doorbell is a transmitter that sends a signal to the receiver that causes the receiver to turn on its light and chime. This process repeats every time the button on the transmitter is pressed.