Set up Bluetooth

On your mouse

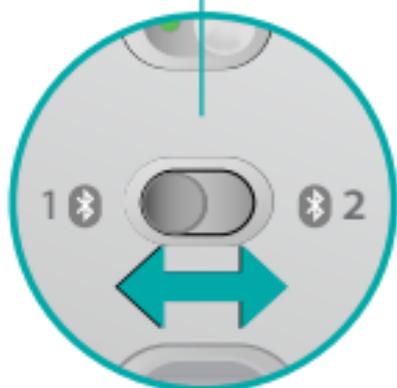

Power on

Slide the power switch to the On position.

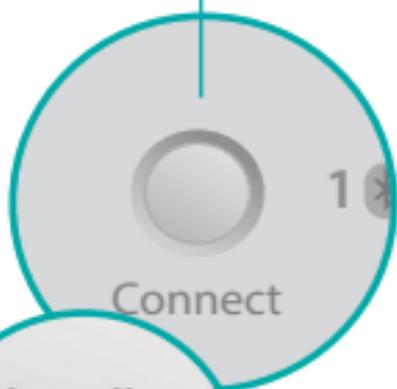

Select Bluetooth channel

Slide the Bluetooth Easy Switch to position 1 or 2.

Press Connect

The status light blinks blue rapidly to indicate the mouse is ready for pairing with a Mac.

The status light blinks while the mouse is discoverable—three minutes.

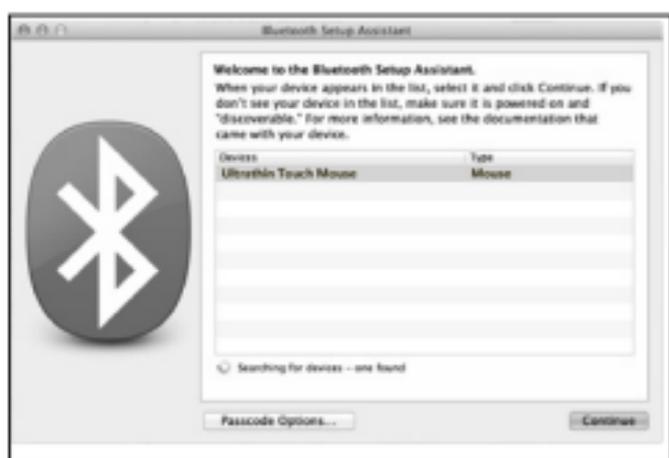

Set up Bluetooth

On your Mac

After confirming that Bluetooth is on, go to System Preferences > Bluetooth and click + to open Bluetooth Setup Assistant.

When Ultrathin Touch Mouse appears in the device list, select it and click Continue. Follow the on-screen instructions.

When pairing is complete, the status light on the mouse lights steadily blue for 30 seconds.

Install software

Experience all your mouse has to offer. Install Logitech software to enjoy smoother performance, personalize settings, and add gestures.

Download the software from:

Pair with another Mac

To use your mouse with another Mac, connect to it using the remaining channel.

Slide the Bluetooth Easy Switch to the unused channel and press Connect.

Repeat the instructions in “Set up Bluetooth”.

To reconnect to one of your paired Macs, select the Bluetooth channel you used for the initial pairing.

Gestures

Clicking (one finger)

Lift the non-clicking finger completely off the surface.

Scroll. Swipe one finger up, down, or sideways.

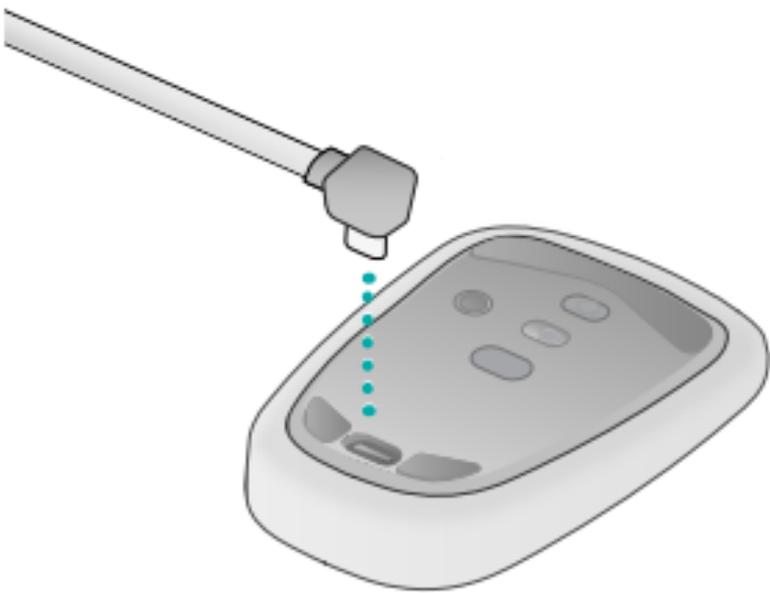

Charge the battery

Use the charging cable to connect the Touch Mouse to your computer or a USB power adapter. The status light blinks green while the mouse is charging.

Charge your mouse until the status light stops blinking. (A blinking red light means it's time to recharge.)

Each minute of charging gives you about an hour of use.

Troubleshooting

Mouse not working?

- On your Mac, confirm Bluetooth is turned on.
- Slide the On/Off switch to Off, then back to On.
- If the Battery Status light flashes red, recharge the battery. (See “Charge the battery.”)
- Confirm that the selected Bluetooth channel (1 or 2) is the same channel you used to initially pair the mouse with your Mac.
- Restart your Mac.
- Check the Bluetooth settings on your Mac to see if “Ultrathin Mouse” is listed. If so, remove it from the list and repeat the steps in “Set up Bluetooth” to pair the mouse with your Mac.
