Declaration of Differences VX6 / VX7 Vehicle Mount Computers

The following letter is a declaration of the differences between the VX6 and VX7 Vehicle Mount Computers manufactured by LXE, Inc.

The VX6 and VX7 are internally identical. Externally the differences are the VX6 features a half-screen display with an internal keyboard located directly underneath the display. The VX7 in turn features a full-screen display and no-internal keyboard. An external keyboard is mounted by use of an RS-232 connector located at the bottom of the product.

Please note that both products are electrically identical.
