

The image shows the back of a black, rectangular electronic device. It has four circular mounting holes, one in each corner. A white rectangular label is centered on the back. At the bottom, there are some small, dark, rectangular components and a thin black cable extending downwards.

FCC ID NZTAT09

This device complies with Part 15 of the FCC rules. Operation is subject to the following two conditions: (1) this device may not cause harmful interference and (2) this device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation.