

- 1) Operational description (called TCF) is uploaded to the correct exhibit. The block diagram was revised and put into its appropriate exhibit.
- 2) Customer comments: The labels we have will have to be redesigned and as you know we are in the process of making new moulds and labels. Our technical director in the mean time suggested that we add the following attached label - even if we need to stick it to the other side of the tag. A new label has been uploaded. This label will be placed on the back of the unit.
- 3) The Product Information Sheet is the only manual that will be provided with the transmitter tag.
