

ANTENNA INFORMATION

The module was tested using in two different configurations. The first configuration uses a permanently attached antenna. The second uses an external remote antenna. The remote antenna is connected to the module using a unique antenna connector (a special TNC connector that uses a left hand thread), which is not available to the general public.