

the device's label is permanently affixed inside the USB receiver compartment located on the bottom of the mouse. The cover of the compartment can be taken off and put back on by the end user easily without the use of any special tools. The device is sold to market with a sticker affixed to the bottom of the mouse as shown below to inform users how to open the compartment for viewing the label within before use.

