Power set at the factory with no provision for user interface