

Technical Description

Receiver

Radio frequency amplifier receives the signal from antenna and amplifier the signal, and then it will go into the demodulator by the S416C chip. The voice signal will be captured from the carrier wave by the. Through the preamplifier and power amplifier, the power of voice signal is now large enough to broadcast from speaker.