

127 Controller Operational Description

Data pins and address pins are encoded by the encoder, the serial encode is sent out by RF modulation. Use suitable receiving decoder to demodulation the data. The LED displays the controller operating status. The encoded signal was modulated on a 433.92MHz carrier by a method of amplitude modulation.