In reply to your recent questions please see below for the explanation from the applicant.

1. BP 200 Models: Does the Client expect to continue manufacturing the original models with the original Antennas?

No, the original BP200, identified as P1, in our development will be superseded by the model currently under certification, identified as P2 in the development cycle.

2. Number of BP 200 Models: If the manufacturer plans to continue to manufacture the originals, then there should be four (4) models identified in the User Manual and the User Manual must be updated to reflect the four (4) models.

No modifications to documentation is necessary since we are only offering 2 models, BP200i AND BP200e.
