The CSL 12-1 Cpod24 is a low power remote control and battery led light with charge system.

Used for private events to add room color. Example: A wedding to add the bridemaids color to event hall walls.

The remote control sets the color and sends one signal to the LED light which receives the signal and remembers what color is dialed in. Similar to a remote for a TV for changing channels, The CSL 12-1 Cpod24 remote sends a signal to change the color in the remote light fixture.
