

USER'S GUIDE

Thanks for your purchasing of wireless optical mouse. This wireless mouse adopts the latest 27MHZ radio frequency technology that is different from traditional IR transmission.

It assures 360-degree omni-directional working while in use and provides 256 id codes to select. (255 in random and 1 default)

FEATURES :

- 1. System requires intel pentium family or higher compatible processor recommended .
- 2.USB port supports "plug and play"
- 3.Support windows 98se/me/2000/xp
- 4.3d auto-scrolling mouse supports internet explorer.let you work in a more efficient way.
- 5.High resolution 800cpi wireless mouse
- 6.Led light shows the status of connection between receiver and mouse .
- 7.Provides 256 id codes
- 8.Low batteries consumption:3v (two AAA size alkaline batteries) can offer more than one month of normal use (based on 6 office hours per day)
- 9.Operate range within 1.5m,1m for optimal performance depends on environment conditions.
- 10.The cable attached is for use of recharging and extension: when you use computer case far away from the monitor, you should use the USB extension interface for USB receiver; when you use rechargable batteries, you can use the MINI plug inserted into the front hole of the mouse, and another end into computer case USB for recharging.

WARNING: OS version should be windows 98se of above,connect receiver to usb port, computer will search the new hardware and request and request to install driver.

Note:

This device complies with Part 15 of the FCC rules. Operation is subject to the following two conditions:

- (1) This device may not cause harmful interference, and
- (2) This device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation.

Caution:

The manufacturer is not responsible for any radio or TV interference caused by unauthorized modifications to this equipment. Such modifications could void the user authority to operate the equipment.