

There are two fairly minor differences between the LV9 and LV11. The first is in the power supply - the LV9 is designed to work from 24 Vac while the LV11 requires only 9Vdc. The other is the type of relay used in the output - the LV9 has a heavier duty one than the LV11. Other than that the devices are identical and, in particular, the orientation of the RF components are the same.