

Operation Description for R/C Power Whip

The transistor Q2 and Q4 are used for generating the control signal to receiver. The oscillation circuit of transistor Q1 and X1 (49.860MHz) are responsible for generate the carrier frequency. Then the transistor Q3 will amplify to receiver.