Theory of Operation

The Beacon transmits its ID continuously, thus defining a location zone. When a tag receives this ID, it reports to the base station and the user application knows the SAT's location.