

User Manual

2 Modes : Output, Receive

Rated Frequency:

903-927MHZ Modes

Selection:

Press MODE and will show T.XXX. It is Output mode. Press MODE again and the display will show R. XXX is Receive Mode.

Frequency Selection :

When the unit is on choosing modes, press UP will raise the rated power and press DOWN will decrease the rated power. The range we can choose is 903 to 927. Confirm the rated power you set then press ENTER to Working Mode. Function Direction: POWER: power direction Signal: signal direction

FCC Statement

This device complies with Part 15 of the FCC Rules. Operation is subject to the following two conditions:

- (1) This device may not cause harmful interference, and
- (2) This device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation.

Information to User

To assure continued compliance, any changes or modifications not expressly approved by the party responsible for compliance could void the user's authority to operate this equipment.

Only SMA type antennas with a suitable size and similar antenna gain are to be used with this device in order to ensure compliance with FCC emissions limits.

Accessories connected to this device by the user must comply with FCC Class B limits. The manufacturer is not responsible for any interference which results from use of improper cables, or which results from unauthorized changes or modifications to the device.