

Antenna Description:

The Antenna is a trace on the circuit board. It is not possible for the user to replace the antenna or use an antenna other than the one provided. The circuit board is potted preventing the user from having access to the antenna or any other component.