Product Information Guide

This Product Information Guide (the "Guide") is published by OnLive, Inc. ("OnLive" or "ONLIVE"). This Guide contains safety, handling, regulatory and warranty information as applicable, for the MicroConsole™ TV Adapter ("MicroConsole") and wireless Gamepad Controller ("Controller"), and other items supplied by OnLive (which may include one or more of the Power Adapter, HDMI cable, USB cable and Ethernet cable, which will be referred to collectively for purposes of this Guide as "Cables") and alkaline batteries (two AA batteries) ("Batteries") or items that are shipped separately (which may include a Rechargeable Battery, or a Component Video Adapter and RCA Audio Cable, (the "Component Cables"). For purposes of this Guide, the term Batteries includes the Rechargeable Battery as well as the alkaline batteries except where these items are referred to separately in the Guide.

The MicroConsole is for use only with the OnLive Game Service (<http://www.onlive.com>) ("the OnLive Game Service"). You must expressly agree to OnLive's Terms of Service (<http://www.onlive.com/legal/termsofservice>) in order to use the MicroConsole and Controller in conjunction with the OnLive Game Service. SAFETY INFORMATION

Read all safety information in this Guide before using the MicroConsole or the Controller. Failure to read, understand and follow all safety information can result in death, serious injury or damage to the product.

CHOKING HAZARD

Keep the MicroConsole, Controller, Cables, Component Cables, and Batteries away from small children, as they contain small parts that can present a choking hazard. Failure to do so may result in death or serious injury.

PROPER PLACEMENT OF THE MICROCONSOLE

Surface of the MicroConsole may become hot. Avoid skin contact to prevent burns.

The MicroConsole should be operated in an area where the temperature is below 40°C (104°F). Operation above this temperature range may shorten the life of the MicroConsole.

Violating the following requirements may make the MicroConsole hot to touch, causing risk of minor or moderate injury. Do not touch, and do not permit children to touch the MicroConsole while in operation or while the MicroConsole remains hot after operation.

- Place your MicroConsole in an area that has good ventilation so that heat can be dissipated.
- Do not place your MicroConsole in a closed cabinet.
- Do not place your Micro Console on top of heat sources (for example, stereo equipment).
- Do not place your MicroConsole adjacent to, under or on top of flammable material.

AVOID MOISTURE CONTACT

Do not use or place the MicroConsole, Controller, Cables, Component Cables, or Batteries where it will come in contact with moisture. Failure to do so may result in death or serious injury.

Moisture can short the internal electronics and permanently damage the MicroConsole, Controller, Cables, Component Cables, and Batteries, and result in serious injury or death from shock or fire.

If such an accident does occur, turn off the device(s), unplug all Cables and Component Cables, as applicable, immediately before cleaning. Permit the item(s) to dry thoroughly prior to turning on any item again or plugging it in. Do not use an external heat source such as a microwave oven or dryer to attempt to dry the item. Note that damage due to contact with moisture is not covered under the Limited Warranties.

HANDLING THE MICROCONSOLE AND CONTROLLER

Not for use by children age 12 and under.

Do not drop, throw, disassemble, crush, bend, puncture, microwave, incinerate or paint the MicroConsole, Controller, Cables, Component Cables, Batteries or Rechargeable Battery.

REPETITIVE MOTION AND MUSCULOSKELETAL DISORDERS

Excessive repetitive use of game controllers, mice, keyboards or other input devices have been reported to be associated with serious chronic injuries.

When you perform repetitive activities like game playing you may occasionally experience stiffness or minor pain in your arms, hands, neck, shoulders or other parts of your body. If you experience such symptoms you should:

- Take frequent breaks.
- Position yourself comfortably and not in awkward, tense postures.
- Keep your hands, fingers and other body parts relaxed.

If pain, discomfort, numbness, tingling or burning persist or reoccur, DO NOT IGNORE THESE SYMPTOMS. Promptly discontinue use of the Controller and consult a physician.

PHOTOSENSITIVE SEIZURES, EYESTRAIN AND BLACKOUTS

A small percentage of people may be susceptible to seizures or blackouts when exposed to flashing lights or other repetitive light patterns, such as when playing video games (even if they have never had a seizure or blackout or been diagnosed with epilepsy). If you have a history of such conditions, or a family history of such conditions, consult a physician before playing video games on the OnLive Game Service.

If you experience lightheadedness, altered vision, seizures or blackouts while playing, DO NOT IGNORE THESE SYMPTOMS. You should stop use of the OnLive Game Service immediately and consult a physician.

It has been reported that children and teenagers are more susceptible than adults to these conditions. Parents should watch and ask their children about these symptoms. Parents should take appropriate steps to monitor their children's access and use of video games and consult a physician if any symptoms described above occur. To reduce risk of these symptoms, use the OnLive Game Service in a well-lit room and take frequent breaks while playing.

POWER ADAPTER USE

- Use only the Power Adapter provided by OnLive.
- Do not place heavy objects on the Power Adapter or its cord.
- Do not permit the Power Adapter or its cord to be walked on, pinched or placed near heating equipment.
- When connecting any electronic component to a power outlet, never use wet hands.
- Always grasp the power plug; do not pull on the cord to disconnect from a power outlet.
- Do not use travel transformers or inverters (automobile, overseas travel, etc.) to provide power to the MicroConsole as such connection can result in excessive heating, damage, malfunction or burns.

Regularly inspect the Power Adapter and its cord as well as the Cables or Component Cables. Unplug the Power Adapter and contact OnLive if any of the following conditions exist:

- The Power Adapter cord is frayed or damaged.
- The Power Adapter case has been damaged or you believe it is defective.
- The Power Adapter or its cord has been exposed to excessive moisture.

BATTERY USE AND DISPOSAL

(ALL BATTERIES INCLUDING THE RECHARGEABLE BATTERY)

Do not handle damaged or leaking batteries. Leaking material is hazardous and can cause serious injury, burns or damage to the Controller. Keep away from eyes, mouth and skin.

If leaking material gets into your eyes, immediately seek medical attention. If your skin or clothing comes in contact with leaking material, immediately rinse with water. If inflammation or soreness develops on skin that has come into contact with leaking material, consult a physician. Other precautions include:

- Keep batteries out of reach of children.
- Do not throw batteries into a fire.
- Do not place batteries near an extreme heat source (such as space heaters or open flames).
- For best performance, do not mix old and new batteries or brands of batteries.
- Always use the specified battery type: AA Alkaline batteries or compatible rechargeable Nickel-Metal Hydride (NiMH) batteries.
- Dispose of Alkaline (AA) batteries according to local and national regulations. Nickel-Metal Hydride batteries are recyclable. Please utilize recycling services in your local area.

- Do not leave batteries in the Controller for long periods of time.
- Follow all warnings and safety information provided by the battery manufacturer.

MODIFICATION OR REPAIR

Do not attempt to take apart, modify, or repair the MicroConsole, Controller, Cables, Component Cables, or Batteries. Doing so may cause death, serious injury, or cause damage that is not covered under your Limited Warranties.

Service should only be provided by OnLive or an authorized representative of OnLive. If you have questions regarding repair or replacement of any items covered under the Limited Warranties, you can find information at <http://onlive.com/microconsole>.
